

CHHE Community Mini Grant Program

Providing funding and technical assistance to enhance the capacity of community groups working on environmental health issues in North Carolina.

Grantees receive up to $4,500 to support:

investigation,

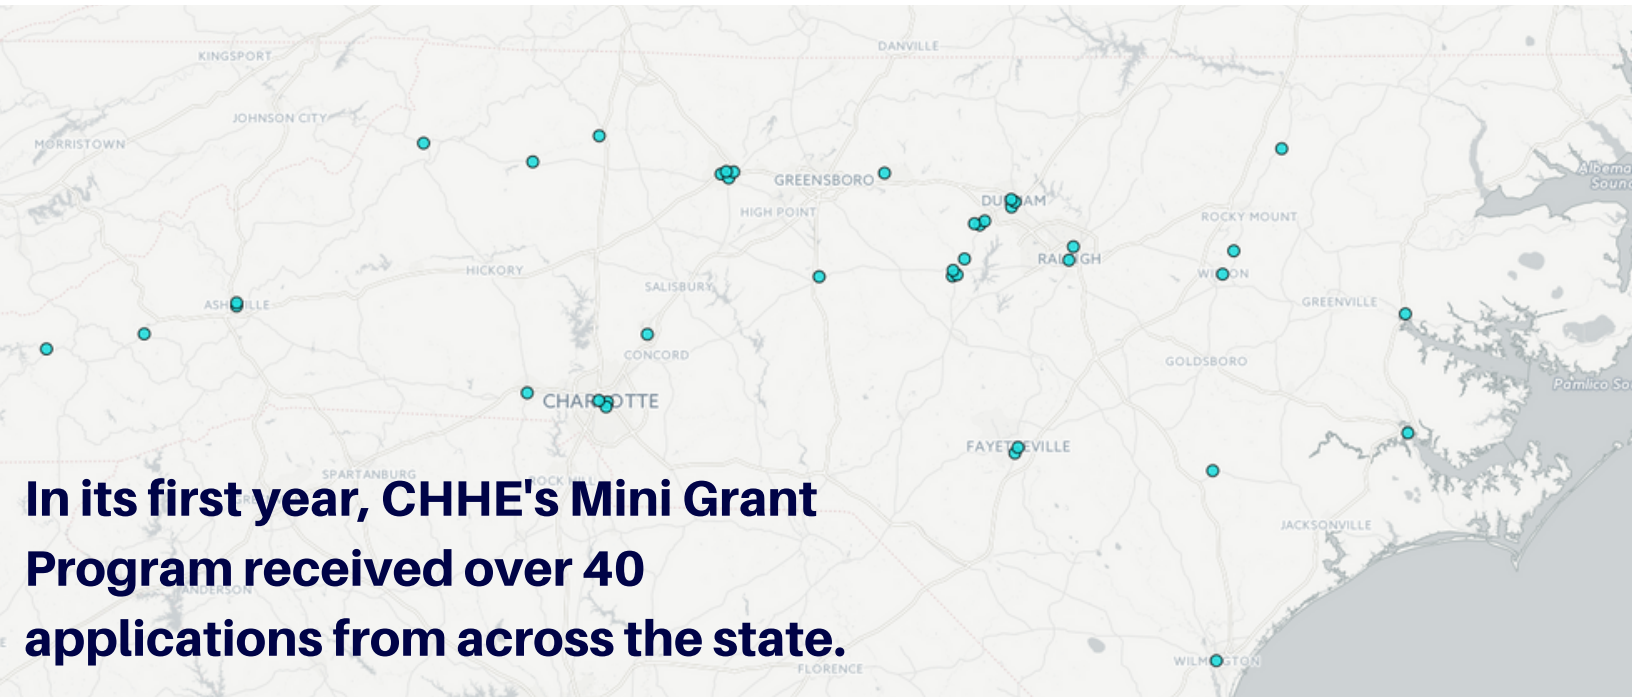

data analysis,

education & outreach

for local environmental health projects.

In its first year, CHHE's Mini Grant Program received over 40 applications from across the state.

Three grantees were selected for the 2016-2017 funding cycle. The projects will address:

- Asthma and obesity in schools

- Household lead outreach and education

- Air quality monitoring and citizen science

To learn more about CHHE and our Community Mini Grant Program:

@NCStateCHHE

@NCState_CHHE

chhe.research.ncsu.edu